InspirEd Educators is pleased to offer the following products in addition to our "I Think" units and other resources. Contact us today for more information and pricing.

ART IN HISTORY (AIH) creates hands-on, brain-based kits with activities that incorporate a range of Common Core & National Standards for Grades 3-12. Each remarkably lifelike and historically-significant artifact ties to varied subjects in U.S. and World History. These gems are perfect for after school programs, cross-curricular courses, and much more.

The artifact replicas serve as references and provide context to content: history, geography, vocabulary, language, arts, math, literature, humanities, sports, religion, and of course, the arts! Then, when their related study ends, each student has a decorated replica of an actual artifact or art piece as constant reminder of their experience and everything learned. These kits serve as a perfect jumping off point into the study of American and World History.
